The Answer:

I will be chosen my previous Manager when I was working In AECOM Arabia. His Name is Spyridon Trikis

Spyridon Trikis have been worked for AECOM Arabia for 3 years from 2012 to 2015 as a Site Project Manager and I have worked with him for the last two years starting as a Project Engineer and finished up as a Site Line Manager.

Spyridon Trikis from my view was a leader with a mixed style like Affiliative, Coaching, Democratic and Transformational visioner that anyone would like to be part of his effective team.

Spyridon was affective by involving with the team member in social and work levels by treating each one as he is the most important in the project.

He was coaching us every week even in life style topics not limiting that to work requirements only.

Usually, Spyridon takes most of the team member's opinion of each of their scope of work democratically and not limiting the decisions to his own thinking only.

Being a visionary leader is something not everyone can be. Working in a team that everybody can success with the support of a leader that vision something on you and gives you his full support to be in the perfect place that you deserve is something worth to follow such a person.

Spyridon was Adaptable for situations such in an emergency or hazardous situation where he can contaminate and arrange the team to close this situation. Cooperative in providing information or direct you to the source. Ambitious to himself and his team in showing the achievements of his team which are his achievements also. A motivational person who supports you to success and give you the keys to reach at least. Self-confident When he talks or presenting something or dealing with his superiors and clients and fully presented with sufficient skills. Willing to assume responsibilities when mistakes happen from the team and trying to solve it and mitigate the effect of it.

Personally, Spyridon supported me in so many ways in my career during working in AECOM Arabia with him and even after. An occasion happened that I had to take a personal decision to take an important training to me "though I had to take his permission and the client permitting to leave work for couple of days and I did not do", the client refused to sign my papers to allow me to leave the work for these days. Spyridon take the reasonability and he released me from my duties for several days and covered my absence without the client's knowledge. This is something to remember and taking this as personal Affiliative between him and me.

For myself, I see myself as a person who can fit to work with any team and even manager or leader. I am Affiliative, democratically, and visionary. I get involve with my team in work basis and in social personal life. I listen to other opinions and manage to mix it with mine or take a decision to take the petter one of them for the sake of the work. Making a vision to success and giving support to my team members to get the best of them reflected on the work and their careers which will reflect on mine.
