A real leader is who makes some effect on you, whether it is bad or good effect. I remember one of my old job boss he was a bad leader. For those reason, he never defend you even if you are right. He never gave you what you deserve in your KPI. He is not confident nor have the knowledge on what we are doing as utilities operation. One day, I had problem with my promotion opportunity, when I asked him why I did not get it, his excuse was we do not have enough budget. I was not happy working with him at all, then I asked myself why he became a manager. Only because he had a degree, I quit my job and I continue my study. Now, I am a manager and I avoid all his mistakes. In addition, I work close with my team to make improvement in their life and job career. Finally, I chose this boss because his behavior was bad, and he did not use his authority as a boss.
