 - Next, describe the leadership situation your chosen leader was in and so you chose for him that style?
 - Finally, conclude with a short description what is your personal leadership style and how effective it has been for you?

Answer:

I choose <Prince Mohammed Bin Salman> as the leader because of his effective actions to forward the kingdom with

- the ability to create a clear vision
- the ability to share the vision with others and motivate them to follow it
- the ability to provide the organizational structure, tools and information that allow others to be successful in pursuing the vision and to address the risks and conflicts that arise during the pursuit of that vision.

Traits and Style in Leadership is crucial because management systems have evolved to play an increasingly important role in corporate structures. Before this leader style, management systems were used to control goals and to focus on minimizing service defects and generally controlling non-compliant methods. Overtime, with King Salman, management systems have begun to address outcome based processes - prevention is as important as inspection. Now, a good management system has a much more comprehensive approach to the organization and key stakeholders. He started a new way of working and new levels of Leadership in management systems. He recognizes that, is not enough to have a one-page policy that is the sole responsibility of a top management member.

The leadership situation is based on his vision 2030 in kingdom that aim to fulfill the Saudi citizen ambitions together with the emerging plans to head Kingdom as #1 happy living nation. Long term plan and time phased allocation of different projects considering even minor factors through proper management and leadership have to be appreciated. Clear separation of management domain with its own policies in different departments, and leadership capability to streamline the management execution is a real attraction.

By learning from this leader my leadership quality may balance self-discipline, integrity, honesty, open communication and Legacy building, some have to be improved in certain areas.
