

Crisis

In humanity history, the world has been into multiple crisis. One of these crises is the great depression. In 1929 the American stocks have been decreased because of the leaderships of the American country couldn't manage the economy system very well. Unemployment has been increased 25% in 1933, which include short of production. People found a difficulties to pay their utilities, food, medicant and clothes. The second crisis is mortgage in 2008. During that time the world witness the most and worst economy since the great depression. The American banks had been close because the increasing of the mortgage. It cost the world poverty and export and import. The third crisis is the European debts, also known as the euro zone. It start in 2008 and climax between 2010 and 2012. After when the European countries announced that they can't paid their debt to the government. The banks closed and unemployed increased in the European countries. The final crisis happened in 2020. The world worst crisis in 21centry the corona virus, other name covide19. That virus started from china, and started to spread like an oxygen in the world. People started to lose their jobs and the economy began to fall. Sanitizers and masks are very shorted because of the high demand in those items. Airports closed; therefore, the virus can't be spreading more. Supplies are stoppe coming from other countries. More products are stopped to be made. The world starts to make a hundred of vixens to cure the sick people from the death. In conclusion. The virus still spreading hoping one day that will ends Sooner or later.
