(Discuss the relationship between Functions of Management and function of project)

(ناقش العلاقة بين وظائف الإدارة ووظائف المشروع)

Firstful, we have to state that there is a strong relationship between functions of management and functions of project. The functions of management are planning, organizing, leading and controlling. However, the functions of project are product, marketing, human resource and finance. These functions crossed with each other but in some areas.

The functions of management are continuous processes with the lifetime of the organization. During this process, a lot of enhancement is applied to achieve the organization's targets. Also, management focus on the long-term in their work. Sometimes, the organization implements some minor or major projects to expedite their process or establish a new procedure then it becomes routine work after closing this project.

However, in project functions, they are focusing on delivering the product in a temporary process. As the project started only to produce a unique product in a specific time and budget, it finished after this target is achieved. Also, to lead these project processes and functions, it is important to use management functions.

To clarifying the crossing between management and project functions, I will examine one function from each one. For example, (planning) function from management is required in the function (product) from project. The product cannot be acquired without planning. On the other hand, (human resource) from project is very important to management in the organization. It is obvious, no organization can work and achieving its goals without the right hiring and development of its employees. The difference here only in the hiring for project, they need to hire high skilled employees and ready to work because most projects have limited time to be finished. in the opposite, the management usually, they have time and plan for their manpower for a long time.

To conclude, it is clear almost all project and management functions can be a part of each other with some differences because of goals and the nature of each one.
