Instructor's Name: Dr. Merna Emad

Read the story below and, as you evaluate the passage below, consider whether this behavior is appropriate for this professional context.

Mark is a top-performing salesperson at a pharmaceutical supply company. As a reward for his performance, he is treated to a trip to the corporate office in California to meet the chief executive officer, Ms. Mills. Ms.

Mills is known around the office as the “Wicked Witch of the West” because of her short and sometimes abrasive demeanor. Mark’s coworkers share “horror stories” of their encounters with her, stating that she rarely makes eye contact, never smiles, and dislikes being approached unless she initiates the conversation.

Although he is excited to travel, he is also nervous about what he and Ms. Mills might talk about. He prepares by thinking about how he can share his sales strategies and techniques. On the day of the meeting, he waits patiently for Ms. Mills’s assistant to call him into her office. When he is escorted in to meet her, he is shocked to see a petite woman behind the large desk smiling back at him with kind eyes. He approaches, shakes her hand, and waits for her permission to sit. Ms. Mills is nothing like the horrible person they made her out to be. Ms. Mills asks Mark several thoughtful questions about why he is successful, ways the staff can be supported, and how the company fits in with his professional goals. Mark feels more and more comfortable as she leans forward to listen intently to what he is saying. Mark loosens his tie, crosses his legs, and begins sharing stories of how he feels his immediate supervisor has dropped the ball on more than one occasion and that the team would be better if more money were allocated to incentives and bonuses. Mark immediately sees Ms. Mills's eyes begin to squint and her brow furrow. She stands up abruptly and says in a gruff voice that their time is up and that her assistant will show him out.

Answer the following question accordingly:

1. Given the professional context, what would you have done the same and/or differently if you were in Mark's position?

Actually, I will not do the same because there is some mistake Mark did which can be avoided.

2. Do you think Mark accurately evaluated the context? Why or why not?

He did not, because he should consider that he is meeting up with higher management which needs more attention to details of communications factors.

3. What communication factors led to the change in the chief executive officer's disposition?

The communication factors which let to change the chief execution officer dispositions as following:

- Mark loosens his tie
- Crosses his legs.

- Sharing stories of how he feels his immediate supervisor has dropped the ball on more than one occasion and that the team would be better if more money were allocated to incentives and bonuses.
4. How could the KEYS process help Mark improve his communication skills?
- Actually, Mark could avoid the situation and improve the communication skills if he use the keys process because from my point of view there is verbal and non-verbal mistakes Mark did which lead to miscommunication between the two parties. For example Mark loosens his tie, crosses his legs which could be bother the chief executive officer. There is some keys process like the following:
 - Knowing himself
 - Evaluate the professional context
 - Communication interactions
 - Step back and reflect.
