What are ethics ?

- Ethics is the art and science of determining good and bad or right or wrong moral behavior.
- Ethics, also known as moral philosophy, is a branch of philosophy that addresses questions about morality — that is, concepts such as good and evil, right and wrong, virtue and vice, justice and crime, etc

MARKETING ETHICS

- Marketing ethics is the area of applied ethics which deals with the moral principles behind the operation and regulation of marketing. Some areas of marketing ethics (ethics of advertising and promotion) overlap with media ethics.
- Marketing ethics is the area of applied ethics which deals with the moral principles behind the operation and regulation of marketing.

Why Business ethics ?

Business ethics is a set of laws about how a business should conduct itself.

(In general, for any business to be successful, it must operate legally and humanely.)

 Customers develop positive attitude towards the firm, its products and its services.

 To create a good image of the company in the minds of customers and employees.

Ethical Behavior in Business

Ethics	The moral principles or values that generally govern the conduct of an individual.
Morals	The rules people develop as a result of cultural values and norms.

Morals involve “good” and “bad” as well as “deviant” behaviors

Making Decisions on Ethical Issues

Here are some steps if you find yourself in an ethical dilemma:

- 1. Identify the ethical dilemma.
- 2. Discover alternative actions.
- 3. Decide who might be affected.
- 4. List the probable effects of the alternatives.
- 5. Select the best alternative.

Green Marketing

- The development and marketing of products designed to minimize negative effects on the environment or improve the environment.
 - Environmentally aware customers pay more for products
 - Companies must try to educate customers of environmental benefits

Social Responsibility

- ☐ Social responsibility is the duty to do what is best for the good of society.
- ☐ A conflict of interest is when a business is tempted to put profits before social welfare.

Social Responsibility

The ethical obligations of a business are to:

- Provide safe products
- Create jobs
- Protect the environment
- Contribute to the standard of living in society

Theories of Social Responsibility – Summary

Theory	Social Responsibility
Maximizing profits	To maximize profits for stockholders.
Moral minimum	To avoid causing harm and to compensate for harm caused.
Stakeholder interest	To consider the interests of all stakeholders, including stockholders, employees, customers, suppliers, creditors, and local community.

Ethical issues in marketing

Major Ethical Concerns

- Ethical values are situation specific and time oriented
- Everyone must have an ethical base that applies to conduct in the business world and in personal life
- How can we assess moral behaviour of marketers?

Major Ethical Concerns

- By its very nature, marketing ethics is controversial, and there is no universally accepted approach for resolving questions
- Ethical issues address a problem, situation, or opportunity that requires an individual, group, or organization to choose among several actions that must be evaluated as right or wrong
- The organization and stakeholders define marketing ethical issues that must be identified and resolved to build trust and effective relationships with stakeholders

Major Ethical Concerns

- Ethics brings many rewards to organizations that nurture it, but managing ethics requires activity and attention on several levels including the following:
 - ☐ Complying with the law
 - ☐ Setting ethical standards
 - ☐ Dealing with the complex decisions related to trade-offs between the bottom line and ethical conduct
 - ☐ High ethical standards require both organizations and individuals to conform to sound moral principles
 - ☐ Organizational culture and individual moral philosophies and values influence the recognition of ethical issues and marketing ethics decisions

Major Ethical Concerns

- Ethical Concerns in Marketing Communication
- Ethical issues in public relations and publicity
- Ethical issues in personal selling
- Ethical issues in sales promotion
- Ethical issues in advertising
- Ethical issues in Packaging
- Ethics in marketing research

Ethical Concerns in Marketing Communication

- Marketing Communications is the sharing of information concepts and meanings by the source and receiver about products and services and the organizations that sells them
- Integrated marketing communication is the coordination and integration of all marketing communication tools, avenues, and sources within a company into a seamless program that maximizes the impact on consumers and other end users at a minimal cost

Ethical Concerns in Marketing Communication

- 1. Ethics in communication requires dignity in preparation and implementation of communication programmes
- 2. Integrity involves avoiding deceiving others or behaving purely in an expedient fashion. Integrity is the quality of being morally good
- 3. Marketing and marketing communication are activities in which ethics and morals play key roles
- 4. Advertising and promotion are areas where a lapse in ethical standards or judgement can result in actions that are highly visible and damaging to a company

Ethical issues in public relations and publicity

- Public relations is a deliberate planned and sustained effort to establish and maintain mutual line of understanding between an organisation and its publics
- Publicity is any form of commercially significant news item about an organization, goods, medium that is not paid for by the sponsor
- The way firms confront negative publicity has important strategic as well as ethical ramifications
- The primary ethical issue concerns whether firms confess to product shortcomings and acknowledge problems or, instead, attempt to cover up the problems

Ethical issues in personal selling

- Personal selling is a concise effort on the part of the seller to induce a prospective buyer to purchase something that he had not originally decided to buy, even if he had thought of it favourably
- Ethical issues include making unsubstantiated claims and undeliverable promises
- Company's penalty and reward structures have some effect on sales person's ethical conduct

Ethical issues in sales promotion

- Sales promotion is the function of marketing which seeks to achieve given objectives by the adding of extrinsic tangible value to a product or service
- It concerns the making of a featured offer to a defined customer group within a specific time limit
- Consumer-oriented sales promotions are unethical when the sales promoter offers consumers a reward for their behaviour that is never delivered

Ethical issues in advertising

- One of the major problems in advertising and promotion is the lack of a clear and acceptable code of conduct
- Advertising codes vary from country to country
- Advertising is primarily meant to influence the independent thinking of the consumer and change his behaviour
- Advertising can be considered as a brain- washing catalyst, which is intended to manipulate the consumer into thinking that the advertised product is the best for him, and it does not matter much whether the consumer really needs the product or not

Ethical issues in packaging

- Four aspects of packaging involve ethical issues:
 - i) Label information
 - ii) Packaging graphics
 - iii) Packaging safety
 - iv) Environmental implications of packaging
- Label information on packages can mislead consumers by providing exaggerated information or by unethically suggesting that product contains more of desired attributes or less of desired attributes that is actually the case

Ethics in marketing research

- Marketing research is subjected to public scrutiny, as it involves direct contact with the public
- Identification of people affected by marketing research enables us to be aware of some readily discernible and easily avoidable ethical pitfalls
- With regard to the public as a whole, ethical concerns revolve primarily around the methods of gaining and reporting research results
- Care should be taken to avoid incomplete reporting, misleading reporting, and biased research
