Prince Mohammed bin Salman Al Saud as a Leader

Prince Mohammed is the son of King Salman Al Saud King of Saudi Arabia, born on the 31st of August 1985, he is the crown Prince of Saudi Arabia, he is also serving as the country's deputy prime minister and is also chairman of the council for economic and development affairs, chairman of the council of political and security affairs, and minister of defense. Mohammed has travelled extensively around the world, meeting with politicians, business leaders and celebrities. He is impressed by the goals of the Silicon Valley and met key people in the US high tech industry. He invested money into many technology companies like Activision and Blizzard through Saudi Arabia sovereign wealth fund. Prince Mohammed advocates fiscal austerity and leads a crackdown on corruption and self-enrichment. He has led several successful reforms, which include regulations restricting the powers of the religious police, the removal of the ban on female drivers, and weakening the male guardianship system. Other cultural developments under his reign is an increased presence of women in the workforce, and opening the country to international tourists. His vision 2030 program aims to diversify the Saudi economy through investment in non-oil sectors including technology and tourism. I selected him because he is such an inspire and hope for the future of the country, and I think that his leadership style is effective.

His leadership consists of responsibilities, Burdon, honor where he created an inspiring vision of the future through it he motivated and inspired people to engage with this vision, he is working on managing delivery of the vision working almost 24 hours a day together with the teams he created and developed so that its more effective at achieving the vision with an effective planning, his style as a leader showed that he is communicating very well with his team and everyone around him, in his era even every government institute workplace atmosphere changed for better which brought out the best in the team, he is lovable and everyone can see this even in the eyes of the youngest citizen, a good listener and it can be seen in every live show he appears in, he is responsible and realistic with great determination on changing the country in many division to the better, it's so obvious that Prince Mohammed is a true leader when he made such mega decisions to diversify the economy which are challenging decisions while moving quickly towards the goals. His style is Affiliative leadership style where he chooses to affect the emotional, mental and physical health of his team and this is obvious on all the workers who are working directly in one of the new organizations established of vision 2030, where he became an inspiration to the people specially the young. Also, he can be described as a Democratic leadership style where other are involved in making decisions, the prince hold final responsibility, but he is known of delegate authority to other people who determine work projects where it can be seen in the teams choose to run and manage the vision 2030. Also, he can be described as a visionary leadership style since he has integrity, defines clear goals, encourages clear steps to communication and expressive.

The decisions of the Prince into letting the people work together with him and have decisions in every project or even goals inspired me a lot, this situation along with other situations like the shares of Saudi Aramco or even letting women to drive inspired me to choose the mentioned leadership styles that fit the prince style as a leader.

I manage and supervise a maintenance section in a mega project hospital where I supervise around more than 25 employee and I work as the same styles chosen where I enjoy share and teach and also learn from others where I believe that teamwork is priority and one decision is always not enough.
