The National Commercial Bank

I'm going to identify four risks that facing the national commercial bank which are affecting their operations, doing some research about the likelihood of this risk and what is its impact and what strategy should be followed to manage the risk.

Firstly, there is a problem had been facing the NCB head office that after they prepare all the needed government document and expected to be ready within two months since applied date.

- out of sudden some delaying happened during opening a new brunch because of the legal documentation was not ready at the planned time.
- This is a Compliance risk.
- Supposed to be a low likelihood which has a big impact and having a loss.
- The strategy of this risk that all the documentation must be taken seriously from day one and finished before the project has been started.

Second risk that is upgrade of software or hardware of the NCB.

- Failure during upgrading might get some data losses or getting deleted.
- This is a hazard risk.
- It is a high likelihood with a high magnitude as we know that the system is down usually
- To make a strategy for that by using the expert IT engineer to upgrade the system.

Third risk, which is hiring new employees.

- Might affect the work movement if there is some miss use of the employees and lack of their skills.
- This is a hazard risk.
- It is a low likelihood and low magnitude.
- At leakage of skills the strategy which must be taken by giving usual courses for the employees to be aware about updated system and how to use it.

Fourth risk is opening a new department for invest on the real estate lands which is having a high risk and high profit.

- It can be a risk because the prices of real estate are not stable or the customer might not know about the new available lands.
- This is an opportunity risk.
- Low likelihood with high impact
- The strategy for that by doing an advertisement through social application and radio also some promotion for government employees and big companies to get the customers.
