Project Leadership

Project Leader: Abdulrazzag Al-Aujan

This search based on a leader called Abdulrazzag Alaujan, who is the Founder and the CEO of Center of Spending Efficiency (CSE). He is an amazing active leader. Based on the search done and feedbacks I have received, he was named a leader because most of his employees write about his inspiration to the team. They start their day with a motivation, that makes them feel to get the best of themselves.

He is a motivator, influencer, innovating, & energetic. He is leading his group by selling what and why, not telling how and when. His last leadership position was on his account in LinkedIn. He has mentioned and wrote a big thanking letter to one of his employees just because he was loyal and efficient at his work. This letter on front of hundreds of people and colleagues is a leadership act and has a big influence on his other employees indirectly.

This letter affected me and made me look at him as a leader I want to work with. This type of leadership (Transformational/Visionary Leadership Style) is the most style that suits my personality. Also, it can get the best of me all the time at work.

As a project leader myself now at my company, I started to use this type of leaderships which I have noticed a big change in my team outcomes. I am leading six engineers, and I can see the effectiveness of this style after few weeks. Although it is quite hard as it needs a combination of many skills, still I am trying to be as good as possible to the team as Mr. Abdulrazzag Alaujan.
