Introduction

One of the biggest challenges faced by telecom Company operators is to generate development from digital services. Developing innovative business, seizing opportunities for inorganic growth, new service.

Saudi telecom company facing 4 types of risk shown below.

Risk (1)

- Visitor will Saudi Arabia especially during the wholly month of Ramadan to preform umrah, on other hand others will come for hajj and many other purposes, so they need use internet during their time in Saudi Arabia, telecom companies will provide for visitor many of advertisement and promotion so the visitor will start looking for the best promotion and will by the SIM card to be in contact to their family.
- Type of risk here is opportunity risk.
- The likelihood of this risk is high as it will give the other company chance to gain high profit and all customers will move forward to gain their services as they are the right choice for them.as well the service will meet their requirements; it may cause the SIM not sold.
- The company strategy to deal with this risk is to provide the best service to customer and promotion to use their services and promotion which has the good data to use during.

Risk (2)

- Cost of repairing and buy maintenance of the material and requirements which will need, for example cutting the electricity sometime will guide to damage the materials. and high voltage of electricity as some spare part is enough to use for one year.as well this risk will make the company spend money yearly for material and buy new materials.
- The type of this risk is uncertainty risk.

- The likelihood of this risk is low.as they will have two option to face this risk can either to repair the material with low cost and other to buy new material which is high price for some of materials, this risk will cut the internet and the network to customer which they will not be able to call and to browse the internet during the cutting.
- The strategy to avoid this risk is to buy good material which will not be affected during the cutting time of electricity either during repairing of the materials need to find a way that users will not face issue during repairing.

Risk (3)

Company certificate needs to renew every year as per the instruction of the government of Saudi Arabia. Not renewing the license will guide to fine or penalty need to pay company, as they will lose the trust of Saudi Arabia ministry of communication.

Type of the risk is Compliance risk.

The likelihood for this kind of risk is very high, because if the license is not renewed, it may lead to the suspension of the organization's services.

The company strategy is to provide the full details required by the ministry of Saudi Arabia telecom ministry and try to renew with earlier time to avoid any delay and issues in earlier stage. And meet the requirement in earlier stage.

Risk (4)

Maintenance team of the telecommunication company need to work at high places such as a high voltage area so the team will be under risk from working in a very high-risk areas which lead sometimes to let the team lose their life or health.

Type of the risk is hazard risk.

Its likelihood for this kind of risk happen is low, if this risk happens the impact to company is high because people life is more important than anything.

The company strategy is to put a very skilled people in this job roll with the most advanced technology of safety. And providing materials such as forklift to save the people to solve the materials.
